How The Proven Duo Horse Racing System Works

The Proven Duo Horse Racing System is based on the idea of finding two horses that are likely to finish in the top two positions in a race. Once you have found these two horses, you can place a single accumulator bet on them. This means that you are betting on both horses to win or place.

The system works best when you are betting on races with a small field size. This is because it is easier to find two horses that are likely to finish in the top two positions in a small field.

Once you have found a race with a small field size, you can start to look for your two horses. The first horse should be a horse that is in good form and has a good chance of winning. The second horse should be a horse that is a little bit longer odds, but still has a chance of placing.

Once you have found your two horses, you can place your bet. You can bet either win or each way. If you bet win, you will win if either of your horses wins the race. If you bet each way, you will win if either of your horses finishes in the top two positions.
